

Background Information and Family Assessment: Tool

Social Support Network Matrix

Información y Valoración de la Familia: Herramienta

Red de Apoyo Social Familiar

English

Social Support Network Matrix The following list has twelve different examples of the kind of support that families frequently need, and 20 possible people or groups to whom a family could seek help and assistance in meeting these needs. Which one of these people or groups help you with the following:	Myself	My Spouse	My Children	My Parents	My Siblings	My Spouse's Parents	My Godparents	Other Relatives	Friends	Neighbors	Church Members	Co-Workers	Baby-Sitter/Day Care/School	Family Center	Early intervention Program	Family Therapist	Health Clinic/Pediatrician/Nurse	Social Service Agency	Other Community Agencies	Case Manager
1. To whom do you go to talk or seek support?
2. Who helps you care for your children?
3. From whom do you seek advice about your children?
4. Who lends you money when you need it?
5. Who supports you emotionally and offers you guidance when things are not going well?
6. Who accepts your children if they don't behave well?
7. Who helps you with your housework?
8. With whom do you have fun, laugh, and spend time relaxing?
9. Who spends time with your children and gives them good attention?
10. Who helps you with transportation?
11. Who helps you learn about services that are available in the community?
12. Who advocates with you so you can obtain services in the community?																				